2021 Seasonal Gardener Job Description - Gravesend, Brooklyn

Reports to: Head Garden Manager

Application Deadline: Friday, March 12, 2021

Edible Schoolyard NYC is seeking a temporary, seasonal gardener/urban farmer to help care for the P.S. 216 school garden for the duration of the growing season, from April 14 to September 24, 2021. This position with Edible Schoolyard NYC reports to the Head Garden Manager. It offers a unique opportunity for aspiring urban gardeners and farmers to learn about the day to day management of an educational school garden through hands-on experience, in a supportive, collaborative environment.

Edible Schoolyard NYC's (ESYNYC) mission is to support edible education for every child in New York City. ESYNYC partners with NYC public schools to cultivate healthy students and communities through hands-on cooking and gardening education, transforming children's relationship with food and promoting healthier school environments. Inspired by Edible Schoolyard Project in Berkeley and its founder Alice Waters, ESYNYC was founded in 2010 to help students in underserved NYC communities disproportionately affected by food system inequities. ESYNYC currently works with seven schools, serving 2,800 students in Brooklyn, Manhattan, Queens, and the Bronx. In addition to serving NYC public school children, ESYNYC teaches other education professionals how to bring edible education to more students through Professional Development workshops.

P.S. 216 has a half-acre in-ground garden, raised beds, a compost system, chickens, a greenhouse, kitchen classroom, and office. The garden will be producing vegetables, fruit, herbs and flowers all summer for distribution to the community, as well as nurturing crops for fall harvest. We are not expecting to do in-person programming at P.S. 216 over the summer due to the pandemic, but may host virtual professional development sessions and tours.
